

CHARLOTTE COUNTRY DAY SCHOOL

November 18, 2009

To Whom It May Concern:

Our Upper School students and faculty had the privilege of attending an assembly in late October titled “It Won’t Happen to Me”. Lauren Winborne delivered the important messages regarding safe driving decisions and the students found the presentation compelling.

It is clear that Ms. Winborne is passionate about keeping teens safe in cars and the graphic PSA’s that were shown were effective and necessary for the impact of the presentation. Ms. Winborne touched on more than the usual destructive driving decisions that involve alcohol; she talked about everything involved in operating a car, from seatbelts to changing music, to looking both ways at intersections. The breadth of her presentation resonated loudly with the students present and faculty alike. Our students were still talking about the presentation days later and many were grateful for her message.

We highly recommend the “It Won’t happen To Me” presentation and are thankful that Lauren and her team are able to spread information about safe driving to teens.

Sincerely,

Patrick Phillips
Head of Upper School

Samantha Bosco
Director of Counseling Services