

WESLEYAN SCHOOL

May 28, 2010

Dear Lauren,

I want to take a moment to thank you for presenting It Won't Happen to Me to Wesleyan School. I appreciate your passion for sharing this important message and am grateful that people like you care enough about current and future generations to do this challenging work.

The program is particularly powerful and has had a memorable impact on our student body. The stories you shared along with the real consequences of loss and tragedy hit our students right in the gut. I also appreciate the driving tips and advice that you shared in conjunction with the powerful stories and videos. This portion of the program gives our students practical and preventive advice on how to drive responsibly. I am hopeful that the stories combined with the practical advice will cause our students to think through their driving decisions before it is too late for them.

You will be pleased to know that following the assembly many students, parents, and teachers took the time to thank us for sharing this important message with your student body. Several adults and students told me that they made the decision to not use their cell phone while driving based on what you shared. I believe the program made a difference in many of our students' behavior and decision making regarding driving.

Thank you so much for bringing this life-changing and important program to our school.

Gratefully,

Heidi Lloyd
